 Parking

Located near the northwest corner of Orcas Island, the 58-acre North Shore Preserve offers forested uplands, wetlands and over 1,800 feet of natural shoreline with prime nearshore habitat for juvenile salmon and the forage fish critical to salmon recovery.

There is parking for 16 vehicles and a 1/4 mile trail down to the beach. Visitors are asked to leave marine life and drift logs undisturbed, and not to trespass on adjoining private land and beach.

North Shore Preserve has been protected by the efforts of the San Juan County Conservation Land Bank, the San Juan Preservation Trust and Salmon Recovery Funding Board.

When you visit:

- Stay on designated trails.
- Daytime use only.
- Leash your dog.
- Follow Leave No Trace Principles.
